I. MEETINGS OF THE COMMITTEE

1. Meetings of the Committee may be called by the Chairman as he may deem necessary on three days' notice of the date, time, place and subject matter of the meeting, or in the alternative with the consent of the Ranking Minority Member, or pursuant to the provision of the Standing Rules of the Senate, as amended.

2. Unless a different date and time are set by the Chairman pursuant to (1) of this section, Committee meetings shall be held beginning at 9:30 a.m. on Thursdays the Senate is in session, which shall be the regular meeting day for the transaction of business.

3. At the request of any Member, or by action of the Chairman, a bill, matter, or nomination on the agenda of the Committee may be held over until the next meeting of the Committee or for one week, whichever occurs later.

II. HEARINGS OF THE COMMITTEE

1. The Committee shall provide a public announcement of the date, time, place and subject matter of any hearing to be conducted by the Committee or any Subcommittee at least seven calendar days prior to the commencement of that hearing, unless the Chairman with the consent of the Ranking Minority Member determines that good cause exists to begin such hearing at an earlier date. Witnesses shall provide a written statement of their testimony and curriculum vitae to the Committee at least 24 hours preceding the hearing in as many copies as the Chairman of the Committee or Subcommittee prescribes.

2. In the event 14 calendar days' notice of a hearing has been made, witnesses appearing before the Committee, including any witness representing a Government agency, must file with the Committee at least 48 hours preceding appearance written statements of their testimony and curriculum vitae in as many copies as the Chairman of the Committee or Subcommittee prescribes.

IV. BRINGING A MATTER TO A VOTE

The Chairman shall entertain a non-debatable motion to bring a matter before the Committee to a vote. If there is objection to bringing the matter to a vote without further debate, a roll call vote of the Committee shall be taken, and debate shall be terminated if the motion to bring the matter to a vote without further debate passes with ten votes in the affirmative, one of which must be cast by the minority.

V. AMENDMENTS

U.S. ATTORNEY INVESTIGATION HEARINGS

From the beginning of the 110th Congress, the Judiciary Committee conducted an investigation into the unprecedented mass firings of Federal prosecutors by those in the Administration of the President who appointed them. The investigation began after it came to light that seven U.S. Attorneys had been fired on the same day, December 7, 2006: David C. Iglesias, District of New Mexico; Carol Lam, Southern District of California; John McKay, Western District of Washington; Daniel Bogden, District of Nevada; Paul K. Charlton, District of Arizona; Margaret Chiara, Western District of Michigan; and Kevin Ryan, Northern District of California. The Committee also learned that H.E. “Bud” Cummins, III, Eastern District of Arkansas, had been told to resign in June of 2006. The Committee subsequently learned that Todd Graves, Western District of Missouri, had been asked to resign in January 2006 and as many as several dozen U.S. Attorneys had been considered for firing.

The Committee held hearings, in whole or part, regarding the firing of the U.S. attorneys, as follows:

- Full Committee, January 18, 2007—“Oversight of the U.S. Department of Justice Alberto Gonzales, Attorney General of the United States, Department of Justice”
- Full Committee, February 6, 2007—“Preserving Prosecutorial Independence: Is the Department of Justice Politicizing the Hiring and Firing of U.S. Attorneys?”

A broad coalition of interests including the Chamber of Commerce and the American Bar Association had been asserting for several years that the Justice Department was unfairly pressuring corporations to waive the attorney-client privilege. In response to their activism and to criticism by members of Congress including Senators Specter and Leahy, the Department of Justice had revised its policy in late 2006 in a document that became known as the McNulty Memorandum. The hearing sought to determine whether the McNulty Memorandum had fixed the problem, or whether problems still remained, and if so, what should be done about them.

Full Committee, October 4, 2007—"Justice Denied? Implementation of the Hometown Heroes Survivors Benefits Act"—Oversight hearing to address the frustrations of Congress and of surviving families in the first responder community regarding the Justice Department's delay of processing applications for the receipt of Federal survivor's benefits under the Hometown Heroes Survivors Benefits Act passed in November 2003, an Act intended to improve the Public Safety Officers' Benefits program by allowing survivors of first responders who suffered fatal heart attacks or strokes while participating in non-routine physical activities to qualify for Federal survivor's benefits, as well as the unfair denial of claims of Federal survivor's benefits that Congress attempted to address in 2003 and that the Department of Justice was not acting in a manner Congress intended. Nearly four years after the Hometown Heroes bill became law, the Justice Department had approved only 12 Hometown Heroes claims, denied 50 families this important benefit, and left 240 applications unanswered.

Full Committee, October 10, 2007—"Economic and Community Implications of Northern Border Security"—Oversight hearing to examine the administration's efforts to implement the Western Hemisphere Travel Initiative (WHTI) and the cultural and economic implications of the Initiative.

Full Committee, October 23, 2007—"The Role of Federally-Funded University Research in the Patent System"—Oversight hearing to give process to an issue that has become known as an Iowa State issue: the Bayh-Dole Act of 1980 granted universities, among others, the right to title of a patentable invention invented with the use of Federal funds (a "subject invention"), and the related right to retain all profits from licensing the invention without reimbursing the Government. The only narrow exception is with respect to inventions made at Government-owned-contractor-operated facilities (GOCOs). Under amendments to Bayh-Dole, universities operating GOCOs were given the same right to elect title to a subject invention but, because the facility was Government-owned, Congress required repayment to the Government if the balance of any royalties earned off licensing inventions exceeded 5% of the annual budget of the facility. Iowa State University's Ames Laboratory became the first to report exceeding this cap and reimbursed the Government last year. At the end of the 109th, the House passed legislation that would have effectively relieved Ames from having to compensate the Government. The hearing also offered an opportunity to begin a more general examination of the role of Federally funded university research in the patent system.
